Construction has begun on a project to improve the Highway 603/I-10 interchange. According to David Cypress of the Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT), the project will consist of widening and upgrading the roads and ramps, as well as making geometric improvements to the roadways. Traffic signals will also be installed.

Traffic slows to a crawl during recent construction in the westbound lane of I-10 near the Diamondhead interchange.

A rash of burglaries have been taking place in the Shoreline Park area, according to Sheriff Steve Garber. "In recent weeks, burglaries have taken place at night, as well as during the day time. We are urging all citizens to report any suspicious people, or vehicles in their area to give us a call. If possible get license plate numbers. We do need some help from residents," Garber added. 'All Seats Are Taken'

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre President Scott Darrah presents The ARTS president Gwen Impson with a check for a portion of the profits from the "Please Take Your Seat" Gala last month.

Gala raises $20K for theatre, ARTS

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre president Scott Darrah presented The ARTS president Gwen Impson with an awards certificate worth 25 percent of the profit from the "Please, Take Your Seat" Gala held June 25 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. The event raised around $20,000 to be split between the two organizations.

Funds were raised by auctioning off one-of-a-kind theater chairs that were turned into works of art by local artists.

The Little Theatre will use their share of the money as a match for a grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission. Funds from the grant will go to phase 1 of a two phase renovation project at the theater, said Darrah.

Phase 1 will include improvements to the stage floor and proscenium, replacement of some windows, shoring and restructuring of the foundation, work on heating and air-conditioning systems, and hopefully the addition of a common room, he said.

The event marks the first collaboration between the two organizations, said Darrah, but it will hopefully lead to many more.

The ARTS is in the process of working on a master plan for future projects, said Impson. So she is not sure yet how the money will be used.

A members meeting will be held on Saturday, July 31, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Branch of the library to continue work on the plan and to prioritize goals for the ARTS, she said.

The Little Theatre will continue its goal of fundraising, said Darrah. Personalized "sponsor" plaques that will be attached to theater seats are still for sale and the theater will continue bake sales and other events.

This summer, the theater will be the location of the children's workshop and to a play, "Wit," on August 27, 28 and 29. The play will address the subject of one woman's struggle with ovarian cancer.

Profits from the play will go to fund ovarian cancer research and continued survival.

Humane Society of South MS needs wheels

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Humane Society of South Mississippi (HSSM) is in desperate need of a covered cargo vehicle for daily operations. HSSM staff members require a covered vehicle to haul supplies like pet food, paper shred, and newspapers. The society has a small truck, but a van would be more beneficial for hauling items in bad weather.

Bags of paper shred, newspapers, and small boxes of pet food blow away in the wind and rain.

A covered vehicle would also be used for transporting animals to visit children at educational facilities, patients in nursing homes and hospitals, and to community events.

Currently, the organization must turn down invitations to attend certain community functions because it does not have a vehicle to transport several animals at once.

Since the HSSM would be transporting animals, the vehicle must be air-conditioned.

If anyone is interested in making a tax-deductible donation of a mini-van or other type of covered cargo vehicle to the Humane Society of South Mississippi, please call (228)863-4394.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

It is good to hear that work is progressing on the renovation of the old Wal-Mart building in Waveland. A major portion of the building will become Pearl River Community College's Hancock County Campus.

This Hancock campus for PRCC is something that community leaders and elected officials have been wanting for many years.

PRCC is scheduled to take over almost half of the building, according to the developer's spokesman.

The balance will be reserved for about a dozen retail establishments.

It sure will be good to see a PRCC campus sign on U.S. Highway 90 in Waveland.

Meanwhile, PRCC's Hancock County classes will be held at Bay High School until the new facilities are completed in the old Wal-Mart building. This is scheduled to be completed in weeks, according to reports.

Monday through Thursday at Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium, there will be a lot of basketballs being tossed through the air.

The Gulf Coast All-American School of Basketball's 17th annual camp will take place for boys and girls ages 5-18.

The camp is to be run by St. Stanislaus' head basketball coach Jay Ladner, along with former Mississippi State University head coach Richard Williams as CO-director.

In addition to coaches Ladner and Williams they will be joined by a staff of outstanding high school coaches from Mississippi and Louisiana.

The cost for the evening camp which will be from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., July 26-29, is $65 per camper and it includes a camp basketball.

This is a great opportunity for an up-coming basketball players to learn many of the fundamentals from a very knowledgeable group of basketball experts.

Registration for the camp will begin at 4:30 p.m. on Monday, July 26. For more information contact Jay Ladner at 467-9057, ext. 224, or 452-2916.

School bells are about to ring and I am sure there may be some folks who have not completed shopping for their youngsters.

It is always good to Shop at Home first, for no matter what you have to buy, because it helps the community in so many ways.

Now, there also may be some folks who are a little short on cash to purchase school clothing. They may want to make a stop at the Goodwill Store at the Bay Mall at the corner of U.S. 90 and Dunbar Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

Goodwill has some very good bargains on clothing for all ages and it is possible to find some school clothing at really good prices.

There are times when merchandise at Goodwill has never been worn, so you may want to check it out.

Rural runways vital to industry

When I became Chairman of the Senate Aviation Subcommittee, someone asked me why I would chair a committee which regulates a slumping industry, still slowly recovering from 9/11's impact.

My answer was that the slump is exactly why I'm interested. I want to help the aviation world bounce back and become better, especially for rural states like ours. Now I'm pleased to bring a little piece of the Aviation Subcommittee to Mississippi, where quality

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

air service and better airports are needed most. This week the Senate's Aviation Subcommittee is conducting a field hearing in Gulfport. Perhaps our state's future is more closely tied to aviation than many states because we're kind of a scattered, largely rural area trying to attract more industry, and that requires an unquestioned commitment to roads, rails and runways. Mississippi's economic health depends on the ability of people and goods to move rapidly from point to point. When I meet with corporations considering expanding in our state they inevitably ask:

Where is the nearest interstate? What kind of railroads are available, and is there a local airport?

I've been focusing on this roads, rails and runways transportation triad for several years. Mississippi has made significant progress on all three, but airport improvements sometimes remain the least appreciated. Most Mississippians don't use an airport every day. We use roads all the time. We stop for trains, but we often forget that airports aren't just about big cathedral-style terminals and daily departures for Zurich or Tokyo. Small rural airports on the edge of countless towns are especially important to small communities trying to attract investment.

The first session of the 108th Congress proved to be critical for America's aviation, especially Mississippi's small airports. For instance, the committee authorized more money for the Airport Improvement Program (AIP), which has touched virtually every airport in our state. AIP funds have traditionally been for improvements like building new runways, terminals, installing lighting and instrument landings systems. However, the increased security mandated after 9/11 forced many smaller airports to use AIP funds for expensive security upgrades, to the detriment of physical improvements. The FAA reauthorization

Barbour to write, call every PLAD recipient

"Don't be afraid. We will make sure you have what you need before September 15." This is the closing line of a letter written by Governor Haley Barbour on behalf of the Division of Medicaid to all 65,000 Medicaid recipients shifting to Medicare in the coming weeks.

During the announcement of his extension of the Medicaid-to-Medicare transition deadline to September 15 last month, Governor Barbour said he would launch a public information campaign to instruct those PLADs (Poverty Level Aged and Disabled) recipients about the attractive health care options available to them. That effort began today as two letters began arriving in the homes of recipients across Mississippi.

The first letter goes to the 18,000 PLADs recipients who are eligible for federal waivers to stay on Medicaid. The letter reports on Governor Barbour and the Division of Medicaid's recent negotiations with federal officials and why the state is confident of getting permission to keep them on Medicaid due to their special condition.

The second letter will go to the rest of the PLADs population, announcing the program change, deadline extension, available Medicare and patients' assistance programs and that more information will follow in the weeks to come. Since some of the PLADs recipients may have trouble getting mail or may have reading difficulties, the letters will be followed by an automated phone call from Governor Barbour outlining the letters' messages.

In coming weeks, a second letter will be sent by

Our letters policy

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double-spaced. Division of Medicaid Executive Director Dr. Warren Jones to all PLADs recipients enclosed with Medicare enrollment help. This letter will be followed by a live patch-through phone call. This is a live call that will go to the recipient's home asking them if they would like to be automatically connected to their closest Medicaid regional office for assistance from a caseworker in enrolling in Medicare.

Governor Barbour says the launch of this effort is why he extended the transition deadline. "To ensure Medicaid's future, this change is the right thing to do - now we need to make sure we do it the right way," he said. "Instead of waiting on PLADs recipients to call Medicaid for help, we are going to initiate the calls to offer help. We will be very aggressive in our information and assistance campaign until we feel like we have done our best in contacting every single person affected," he added.

Dr. Jones said he was unaware of any other states that have taken a more proactive role in communicating a change to a seg-

Gulf Coast All-American School of Basketball begins this week at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The annual basketball camp run by St. Stanislaus College head basketball coach Jay Ladner has become a fixture among the athletic landscape of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Now, the camp enters its 17th year of existence with not much change along the principles it was founded on almost two decades ago.

Ladner commented, "The camp has become known for outstanding fundamental instruction. It will continue the path that has been blazed in years past. Richard Williams, former Mississippi State University head coach, will again co-direct the camp."

The camp is open to boys and girls between the ages of 5-18. The camp will run daily from 5:30pm until 8:30pm starting on Monday, July 26th through Thursday, July 29th. It will be held at the Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of St. Stanislaus College. The cost is $65 per camper which includes a camp basketball.

Jay Ladner and Richard Williams will direct the camp along with a staff of outstanding high school coaches from Mississippi and Louisiana.

Ladner continued, "The camp is entering its 17th year. When the camp started 17 years ago, it was the first of its kind along the coast. As far as we know, it remains one of a kind. There is a lot of tradition surrounding the camp. It is full of memories. Many of the campers come back year after year. They learn a tremendous amount about the game; however, they have a ton of fun."

Not only do the campers learn at the camp, they prosper. Many of the campers go on to outstanding high school careers at schools such as St. Stanislaus, Bay High School, Hancock, Pass Christian, Gulfport, Harrison Central, and Biloxi among many others.

There is a litany of players that Ladner has coached at SSC who have used the camp to hone their skills and eventually move on to the next level. Some of the alumni of the camp are former SSC and LSU great and current Dallas Cowboys offensive lineman Stephen Peterman, Loyola University players established a $500 million fund dedicated specifically to security, like baggage screening, reconfiguration of passenger check points and other projects to enhance security. This frees airports to once again use AIP funds for their original purpose - physical upgrades of facilities and equipment.

The committee was also able to help airports by decreasing the local AIP match which communities receiving AIP funds have to pay, dropping from 10 percent to 5 percent. We also passed the Small Community Air Service Development Pilot Program by which the U.S. Department of Transportation awards grants to 40 communities each year that demonstrate air service deficiencies or higher than average fares. These grants aren't guided by form applications but instead are rather open-ended allowing airports to be innovative with their proposals. For example, at the Meridian airport, officials applied for and received funds to market their airport and purchase equipment that otherwise would have to be provided by the airline.

The result: Delta Airlines resumed jet service to Meridian, the first jet service there since airline deregulation began in the early 1980s. Tupelo is another Mississippi community using this program to help increase air service in Northeast Mississippi.

In the transportation triad consisting of roads, rails and runways, we simply cannot forget the airport component. We may not use airports every day, but we sure depend on them daily for goods and services, and for attracting jobs. They are indispensable to a vast country like America, and especially in rural states like Mississippi.

Cochran announces $60M for military construction projects in Mississippi

The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved $60,524,000 for military construction projects in Mississippi, according to Senator Thad Cochran (R-MS) who is a senior member of the Committee.

Cochran said, "This bill provides funds to ensure that the training facilities in our state for our military forces are up to date and well equipped. It also permits the modernization of housing facilities and other amenities that will encourage service in the military."

The fiscal year 2005 Military Construction Appropriations bill includes $1.3 million for construction of a Weapons of Mass Destruction / Civil Support Team Facility in Jackson. The bill also provides $4.65 million for construction of an organizational maintenance Shop at Gulfport. The committee approved $7.7 million for the construction of a new Fire and Rescue Station at Columbus Air Force Base and $35.8 million for privatization of family housing at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi.

Funding in the amount of $4.35 million was provided for a new Vehicle Maintenance Facility in Gulfport. Additionally, the Committee approved $6 million for a Special Operations Forces Riverine and Combatant Craft Operations Facility at the Stennis Space Center. The bill will now be considered by the full Senate.

Boys and Girls Club's dinner set for July 27

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast, Grand Casino Gulfport, and Outback Steakhouse will host the 13th annual Steak & Stake Dinner & Silent Auction, Tuesday, July 27. The evening kicks off with a pre-dinner reception and silent auction at 6:00 p.m. at the Grand Gulfport Event Center.

Based on the concept that by purchasing a STEAK, you are buying a STAKE in a child's future, the "Steak & Stake" Dinner is a celebration held by many Clubs across the country. Funds generated help support the organization's costs associated with operations, programming and outreach services for our 5 Clubs in Harrison and Hancock Counties.

Talented Club Kids will be showcased throughout the evening with performances and Youth Awards. The highlight of the evening will be the announcement of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast "Youth of the Year."

The 13th Annual Steak & Stake Dinner is Chaired by Harrison County Supervisor Connie Rockco. Co-Chair for the event is Mickey Parenton, Sr. Vice President of Casino Operations for Grand Casino Biloxi.

Over 500 community leaders, elected officials, business leaders and volunteers as well as 300 Club Members are expected to attend this year's event.

Last year the Clubs had over 3,000 registered members ranging in age from six to eighteen, and served thousands of additional youth through various Outreach Programs in Harrison and Hancock Counties. The Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast, a United Way agency, will directly benefit from all proceeds generated from this event. Funds raised will assist in costs associated with operational, programming and outreach services for the Club's five units and activity center.

If you would like to donate an auction item, purchase a seat, or sponsor a table at one of our sponsorship levels, ranging from $500.00 to $5,000.00, please contact 228-374-2330 or visit our website at www.bgcgulfcoast.org where you can also preview the Silent Auction.

He served his country in the U.S. Coast Guard, during World War II, and fought in the Battle of Tarawa. After the war, he made California his home and retired in 1989. He had a great love of the outdoors, with his favorite place being Iron Mountain, in the High Sierras. Dupie was an avid fly fisherman, tying his own flies, and was a past member of the Sierra Fly Fishing Club. A Year Has Passed

We thought of you today,
But that is nothing new,
We thought of you yesterday
And will tomorrow too.
We think of you in silence,
And make no outward show,
For what it meant to lose you,
Only those who love you know.
Remembering you is easy,
We do it everyday,
It's the heartache of losing you,
That will never go away.
You are gone but not forgotten,
For we love you just the same,
We have wonderful memories of you,
And your picture in a frame.
We think of how the Lord did bless us
With all the years we had you.
And we pray we'll be there with you,
When our life on earth is through.

LOVE,

Career-technical conference set for Tuesday at Pearl River

Pearl River Community College is sponsoring its fourth annual district-wide Career-Technical Division Conference on Tuesday, July 27, in the Olivia Bender Cafeteria on the Poplarville campus.

Secondary career-technical instructors, administrators, counselors, faculty and staff will attend this special event.

"We are expecting some 250 people," said Don Welsh, Career-Technical Director at PRCC. "We were approached by the local secondary instructors and directors a few years ago and asked if we could host a conference just for our six-county district. We have been planning this event since last year."

Following opening remarks by Dr. John Grant, PRCC Vice President for Instruction, at 9 a.m., Dr. Debbie Silver will be the keynote speaker. The subject of her motivational talk: "Be A Teacher-Be A Hero!"

Silver is an award-winning educator with 30 years experience as a classroom teacher, staff development instructor, and university professor. Her numerous recognitions include being named the Louisiana State Teacher of the Year.

Silver has been an invited author for several educational journals and has given keynotes at state, national and international conferences. She has been a featured teacher for the PBS Online Teacher Chat, and has worked with educators in 46 states, Canada, and Europe.

Her first book, Drumming to the Beat of a Different Marcher: Finding the Rhythm for Teaching a Differentiated Classroom, has just been released by Incentive Publications, and a song she co-wrote with Monte Selby is featured on his new CD. She is married to Dr. Lawrence Silver, and they live in Clinton.

James E. Sardin, Associate Superintendent of Education, Vocational-Technical Education Division, will also provide an update on current issues as they pertain to career-technical education programs in Mississippi. Following lunch, Silver will make a presentation about her experiences as an educator, writer, and entertainer.

Conferees will then go to their respective areas where they will get some hands-on information, as well as receive updates on new and emerging equipment.

"The whole session is really an in-service type of program to provide the conferees with updated skills," said Welsh. "We bring in outside people from business and industry and some guest speakers to address certain issues. There will be demonstrations on new equipment and software, as well as the latest trends in the building industry."

For more information, call (601) 403-1241 or 403-1101.

Regional carrier switching to all jet service in state

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Delta Connection's regional carrier, Atlantic Southeast Airlines, is switching from turboprops to jets on routes between the state's major airports and Atlanta.

By Christmas, Atlantic Southeast Airlines will serve all its Mississippi customers with jet service, completing a long-awaited process by which customers using airports in Jackson, Meridian, the Golden Triangle and Gulfport/Biloxi will benefit from full access to faster, more comfortable jet service, Sen. Trent Lott, R-Miss., said in a Thursday statement.

In another development, Lott said his Senate Aviation Subcommittee would conduct an open hearing next Tuesday in Gulfport at the Hancock Bank Building.

The hearing will include testimony from Mississippi's airport officials and the public on ways to further improve the state's airport capacity and expand or further enhance passenger and cargo service, he said.

Lott said the change to jet service would be especially beneficial to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, where four of the seven daily flights between the Coast and Atlanta are operated with turboprop aircraft.

In addition to replacing the four turboprop flights with jets, the carrier will also upgrade the other three existing jet flights at Gulfport/Biloxi by replacing its four existing 50-passenger regional jet flights serving the route with 70-seat Bombardier CRJ700 aircraft.

DeRussy's murals at Bay Catholic were funded through a memorial award provided the parents of the late Chris Lary.

the church choir.

When parents and teachers asked her to help out with a mural they wanted to paint on the front entrance to the school, she was happy to help. To make the mural more of a whole school project, after she finished her historical research, DeRussy invited fifth and sixth grade students at the school to submit drawings and paintings based on the facts and the pictures she had collected.

The resulting mural is based on the art work she received from the children.

The pictures trace the history of the area and the church community, beginning in 1699 with d'Iberville's landing in the Sound, and the first pastor Father Stanislaus Buteux. Paintings continue through history to St. Joseph's Academy, Our Lady of the Woods Shrine, St. Rose de Lima School on to the present day institutions.

DeRussy has been painting for about ten years, and painting murals for about seven years.

Besides the school, her murals appear at many commercial locations along the Mississippi and Louisiana coast. Most of her work appears in private homes, DeRussy said.

She is a native of New Orleans and has lived in Diamondhead for about eleven years.

Funding for the mural comes from the Chris Lary Memorial Fund.

The fund was started by Lary's parents as a way of remembering their son, who was only in his early 20s when he died in 1998. The fund is available for projects at Catholic Schools.

Construction Continued

When the project is completed, the stretch of 603 and Diamondhead will be three lanes wide on each side.

The project was contracted to Necaise Brothers Construction in Gulfport earlier this year in March. The estimated cost, according to MDOT, will be $445,157.

If construction continues as planned, the project will be completed in Feb. 2005.

Contractors are no longer given a completion date. They're given a certain amount of time units to complete the project," Cypress said.

The Jourdan River bridges on the 603/Diamondhead stretch of I-10 are nearing completion, although they are slightly behind schedule. The project, contracted to Cypress Construction in Hattiesburg, is almost finished. Problems with the foundation have delayed the construction.

"They're a little behind schedule," Cypress said. "It's about 95 percent complete."

Cypress estimated that the project would be finished in September, instead of August.

The sheriff's department encourages residents to keep records of names, models and serial numbers of their items. If possible, also to mark their possessions.

"They have been taking

Barnett continued, "The victim held the two suspects and had another party at the residence summon the sheriff's office. Lt. Jimmy Esposito and Sgt. Chris Ory responded to the residence."

"Brandon Power, 17, was arrested and charged with residential burglary. Because of the crime, he is being charged as an adult. His bond was set at $10,000," Barnett stated.

In addition to Power's, the other suspect held by the victim was a juvenile as

The days of August and the end of summer

Authors Note: I wrote this last year when the Waveland Pier was still in the final stages of renovation. Its topic is as apropos now as it was then.

It's the 4th of July, the very hiatus of a new summer. The lights, cooling showers, are moving, sporadically over the Sound. Stella and I are on the end of Waveland's fishing pier. There are about twelve or so hardened fishermen around us, ignoring the brief sprinkles of rain, each working his/hers limit of two poles and the conversation is fishing.

They're not doing well. The water is barely brackish as a result of the recent rains and the catch is catfish, rays, undersize specs, and every so often a small shark, but it doesn't matter, every hit produces the same excited rush about of reeling in, avoiding other lines, the grabbing of the net to pull whatever is caught up to the high deck of the pier.

Stella has caught two hardheads and undaunted is working her borrowed pole, casting, reeling in, feeling her line. I'm a few feet away, staying out of the action, talking to an old oil field hand who is willing to chat with me between casts about the old days on the rigs, about mud men, pipe stands and doodle bugging. Anything but fishing, I think, and I hang on to his every word.

"Bubba, you got one!" Bubba, a boy about twelve, maybe thirteen, barefoot, large hands and vivid black curly hair, grabs the vibrating pole he's left resting against the rail and dancing back, yanks hard. The hook sinks in; he has it. More reeling in, excitement. Someone yells, "Another small shark." I can't help it, the excitement is pervasive, and I stand to watch as the boy lands it, and another boy, the same age, measures it, "thirty four inches, not a keeper" and deftly unhooking it, Bubba throws it back in.

Finally, Stella tires of catching hardheads and we head back, me driving as she talks about fishing and the repaired and newly extended pier that is now

The Prima Pearls of the Red Hat Society crown a new queen

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER

More over twenty some- things: You just think you know how to party. Fun loving people of all ages could learn a thing or two about having a good time from the Prima Pearls of Bay St. Louis chapter of the Red Hat Society. To be an official "Red Hatter" you must be 50 or older.

The Prima Pearls were founded in 2001 by Connie Boussom, who reigned as Queen until her abdication on Thursday. Boussom will move on to serve as Queen of Diamonds in the much smaller (and quieter) chapter, Diamonds and Red Hatters of the Bay of St. Louis, she said on Friday.

Boussom handed over her crown to new reigning Queen Brenda Kraemer at a Coronation Ceremony at the Bay/Waveland Yacht Club on Thursday. The Pearls chapter, which began with about 18 women, now has nearly 150 members, and they love to party. Champagne and hilarity flowed freely at the coronation bash.

Project Homestead at JB-W Schools host uniform drive

With another school year lingering around the corner, parents and children are on the verge of beginning to go through their closets and get rid of old school uniforms that just do not fit anymore. Parents are worried about finding the money to pay for new uniforms for children who have grown over the summer vacation.

This year, foster parents and children with Department of Human Services involvement will not receive their yearly allowance for school uniforms and supplies. Due to budget restraints, DHS is discontinuing school allowances to their foster parents and children. The Hancock County Project Homestead task force and the Bay/Waveland School District have united to host a "School Uniform Drive."

The Hancock County Project Homestead task force is made up of community leaders and citizens of Hancock County. Each individual who comes to the meetings has a special interest in helping families and children of Hancock County. Parents will be registered at the school for children for school uniforms on July 26 and July 30. The uniform drive will begin on July 26, and will run until school begins. The task force has decided to expand the focus of the drive to collect used uniforms for all children within the Bay/Waveland School District. The drop-off locations will be Bay High School, Bay/Waveland Middle School, North Bay Elementary, Second Street Elementary, and Waveland Elementary. The Hancock County Project Homestead task force in collaboration with Bay/Waveland School District will be collecting uniforms for their students during the week of registration from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., to make it easy for the parents and residents who wish to donate. The school counselors from each school will distribute the collected uniforms to the deserving children and families within their school. Any questions, feel free to contact Donna Torres, Bay/Waveland School District @ 228-467-0444 and Cullen Letort, M.S., Project Homestead Regional Coordinator @ 228-868-9586.

Although it doesn't feel like fall outside, it is time to start planning for fall classes at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College. Students have almost 4,000 classes to choose from this semester with more than 190 courses available online.

Pre-registration continues for the next month and ensures students get the classes that work with their schedules. A complete list of classes can be found on the college's website at www.mgccc.edu or <http://http://www.mgccc.edu>. The fall semester starts Aug. 23.

Current students can pre-register on campus or avoid the heat altogether and go online. New students can apply online, but must go through on-campus orientation and advising before signing up for fall classes. Students with financial aid should contact their campus's financial aid office before registration. All Gulf Coast campuses will have on-campus registration Aug. 18-19.

Classes at the college's Keesler Center will begin Aug. 30. Pre-registration is available for active duty military on the web Aug. 23. For all other registration at the center, call 377-2287 for an appointment.

From the original 18 women, some 15 or 20 chapters of Red Hatters have formed along the coast, grandchildren of the original Pearls, said Bousson. Each chapter has its own unique personality, she said, and between them there is something for everyone that they can have fun doing.

The Red Hatters began as a way for women over 50 to make new friends and participate in activities with other women of their age and experience, a chance to gain a little camaraderie.

"We took care of our husbands and our children and now it is time for us to have fun some of the time," said Bousson. "Girls just want to have fun."

And because of that, men are usually discouraged from Red Hatter functions.

"Because if the men are around then we may tend to revert back to the roles of making sure the men are having fun," said Bousson. Each chapter is a little different as are the members. Some may host large parties; some may attend movies together; and some may just sit around and talk and get to know one another. Chapters have different styles for different people, said Bousson.

The one uniting feature is friendship and, of course, the trademark red hats, purple outfits, and all the regalia.

Time -- summer's end

Waveland's pride and joy. The pier is not officially open as yet, but when it does, probably by the first or second week of August, she plans to get a season ticket.

"Too bad about Bubba," she says looking back toward the long pier where she left him. "He'll only be able to come out on weekends."

"Why is that?"

"School. His school starts the end of this month. No, that's not right. I think it starts the eight of August or something like that."

"What? August?"

"Paul, come on. All the schools around here start the first week or second of August. You know that!"

"No. No, I didn't. Why are they doing that? How long has that been going on?"

Later I sit on the porch, rain squalls move in front going east to west across the water. Jennie's at my feet and the low rumble of thunder far to our west makes her look about nervously. The Waveland Pier to our right vanishes momentarily in the diffused haze of a moving squall. I'm sure with all this, the fishermen have quit for the day. I watch the show, thinking of it all as a late spring effort and that from this point on, summer really starts. Summer, real summer, stretching far ahead across a long hazy distance of hot, bright days.

Against all this, I try to digest what Stella has told me. School in August! It all seems unreal. Our children and grandchildren are grown beyond school, so my ideas of summer vacations are old, left over from my own experience with school.

I remembered that way back then we got off about a week before Memorial Day and went back to school after Labor Day. That gave us three months of... of... well, whatever we wanted. What a wonderful gift. Three months of summer jobs, camps, family vacations or just sitting around watching golden day follow golden day. Usually a little of each, but a lot of the last. Maybe this was all too much to the structure-seeking school czars of today.

Maybe that's it. Our days then were not structured, we were wasting time, time that could be any thinking person, be better spent in planned lessons, in a controlled environment, doing the logical things, the needed things, the things that went with producing a person ready to enter the real world.

Maybe.

But then there's Bubba. What class would teach him to do what he did today, what class would have him work so hard for a catch that he and everyone standing there with him would know would be thrown back in as soon as it was landed.

Logic. Structure. Control. Think about it. Around us there are times when all creation seems to be made up of chaos.

It's probably not; I feel there is a subtle logic to it all. It's not the contrived logic we are familiar with, but in an infinitely warped logic. The summers we had long ago, those "wasted" summers, prepared us for the real world's logic, the real world's misshapen structure of not logical existence. A world in which a wasted moment at the right time is joy itself. Almost, when viewed against the vast panorama of existence, the real purpose of it all.

I remember when Greta was just a six month puppy and I brought her to an obedience trainer in Biloxi. The woman looked at her and told me to bring her back when she was a year old.

"Why?"

"She's just a puppy now. Let her have her time as a puppy. She'll enjoy it and you will enjoy it as well. There is always time when she gets older and you will have a better dog."

She was right, we did. I'm not sure who made the rules of school vacation ending in August. And I'm not knowledgeable enough to know why. I am sure that when whoever they are put down a list of positive and negative factors of logical choices, learning time, school equipment usage, teacher output, the gradual elimination of summer became the best of logical choices.

But there are things that will eventually be lost.

Like Bubba's dance as he sunk the hook on his catch on the 4th of July on the long new pier in Waveland.

GE Plastics to host 'outdoor classroom' along with the Hancock County schools

Employees from GE Advanced Materials Plastics will be helping to prepare an "outdoor" classroom for this coming school year on Tuesday, July 27 and Wednesday, July 28. This project will be funded through an $8,000 grant from the GE Elfun Volunteers Community Foundation that was awarded to the Hancock County School District this year.

The grant money will be used for two projects in the school district this year, the first of which will be led by Angel Dawsey, a teacher from Hancock Middle School in the Kiln who requested the funding for a classroom project entitled "Brining the Outside In." Dawsey and GE volunteers will be turning the classroom into a virtual outdoor environment.

"The school welcomes the opportunity to develop and implement a model program for promoting the hands-on science approach that can be shared with all the students at her school," Dawsey said.

Jeanne Brooks, the

Charles B. Murphy Elementary Librarian, also requested funding for Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy Schools to help another project "Book Buddies ... Imagination of Work". This project will include the distribution of books to students through the Reading is FUNDamental Program.

"GE volunteers work within the schools by becoming 'book buddies' to read with students, to read to students and to provide resources in the form of books and incentives," Brooks said.

The Elfun Community Foundation was created in October 2000 to provide another funding stream for projects involving organized groups of GE volunteers. This year, the Foundation received more than 50 high-quality applications for funding from nonprofits working with GE volunteers. The projects that received Elfun Community Foundation grants all include significant GE volunteer involvement and the opportunity to leverage the impact GE volunteers have in their community.

"I was very impressed by the quality of the projects included in this year's grant process," said Lucy Bremond, President of the Elfun Community Foundation. "And I'm excited by the opportunity The Foundation has to leverage the success of GE volunteers in their communities to have an even greater impact."

Public Notice - because you have the right to know!

The Sea Coast Echo is participating in the Newspaper in Education Program for the 2004-2005 School year. Sponsors are needed to help provide newspapers for classroom use. During the 2003-2004 school year, all area schools participated in the NIE Program.

You can help by sponsoring a specific teacher(s) at one or more of our schools.
Sponsorships are $150 per class per year.

N.I.E. and YOU make it possible to put our local newspaper in the classrooms to put students in touch with what is happening in their community.
Thanks to you, N.I.E. is possible!

N.I.E. Sponsors will be recognized several times in The Sea Coast Echo.

Newspapers In Education is a program in which newspapers supplement traditional teaching materials in the classroom. N.I.E. programs are provided to local schools through paid sponsorship programs.

Newspapers In Education programs teach with the newspaper. Students learn to become critical thinkers through reading, analyzing and discussing newspaper stories and editorials. They use the knowledge they gain to engage in conversations with peers and family members.

If you would like to be an NIE SPONSOR or if you are a teacher and would like to use the Echo's N.I.E. program in your classroom you may contact RITA BREUN, N.I.E. coordinator at THE SEA COAST ECHO 467-5474.

Foreign exchange program's final plea for Hancock area host families

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Foreign high school students are scheduled to arrive soon for academic semester and year program homestays, and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, are English-speaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families.

P.I.E. currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. area representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the perfect match. As there are no "typical" host families, P.I.E. can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a large family.

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50.00 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

For the upcoming programs, P.I.E. has students from Germany, the Former Soviet Union, Venezuela, Argentina, Brazil, Macedonia, Hungary, Korea, Ghana, Mexico, Italy, Paraguay, Australia, Yugoslavia, China, Belgium, Vietnam and many other countries.

P.I.E. has also been invited to participate in a special government-funded program to bring scholarship students from the Newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union to the United States. P.I.E. is a non-profit educational organization that has sponsored more than 20,000 students from 40 countries since its founding in 1975. The organization is designated by the United States Department of State and is listed by the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel (CSIET), certifying that the organization complies with the standards set forth in CSIET's Standards for International Educational Travel Programs.

Doty encourages families to contact the program immediately, as it will allow the proper time for the students and hosts to get to know one another before they actually meet for the first time.

Hancock area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call P.I.E., toll-free, at 1-800-631-1818. The agency also has travel/study program opportunities available for American high school students, as well as possibilities for community volunteers to assist and work with area host families, students and schools.

Prendergast attends interlibrary loan demo

Sue Prendergast, Assistant Coordinator of Information Services at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library headquarters, traveled to Jackson this week to attend a statewide demonstration of products to determine a new state interlibrary loan system (ILL).

Prendergast and other librarians from across the state viewed demonstrations of AutoGraphics and Dynix interlibrary loan vendors. In November, 2003 Prendergast was chosen to serve on a focus group, along with 12 other staff from libraries across the state, to develop a set of features desired for the new system.

Funding for implementation of the new system was provided by the 2003

Mississippi Legislature. The Mississippi Library Commission (MLC) is the state agency that will develop the Requests for Proposal (RFP). The statewide interlibrary loan system is expected to be implemented this year.

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Since 1892, The Sea Coast Echo is proud to be a part of your community.

TRUE FORGIVENESS

We sometimes decide whether someone deserves our forgiveness by carefully considering how many times they may have wronged us, or even by considering the perceived worth of the person. But is it truly forgiveness if we calculate whether the person deserves it? True forgiveness, like true grace, is unearned. Forgiveness that is deserved is really something more like a pardon, or even a person having served their time. To truly forgive someone, there should be no consideration of whether they are deserving of it or not. The true act of forgiveness takes place in the heart of the person who has been wronged, and has absolutely nothing to do with the person who committed the wrong. We see true forgiveness in God's sacrifice of His sinless Son for the atonement of our sins. Nothing we did makes us deserving of that sacrifice. On the contrary, the whole transaction is pure grace; that is, a free and unearned gift. Our existence itself has the quality of grace because our lives are a pure gift, and there is nothing we did, in the past, present, or future to deserve the gift of life. So, we should not calculate or decide whether someone deserves forgiveness, but instead, we should just give it to them.

Then Peter came up and said to him, "Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? As many as seven times?" Jesus said to him, "I do not say to you seven times, but seventy times seven."

That other passion of our lives

Just a month ago, we reflected on the Passion of Christ in our lives, since each of us lives out a very personal version of the Passion every single day. However, there is that other passion of our lives which occupies the lion's share of our thoughts, words, acts and time.

Our passion which corresponds to the Passion of Christ consists of our daily ordeals, pains, trials and repugnant challenges. Our other passion is the one which takes over our thoughts, words, actions and most of our time, energy and attention.

What would fit such a description and such a slot in your life? Oddly enough, the very thought of this originated with this weekend's Bible reading from Luke 10:40-42: "Mary has chosen the better part and it will not be taken from her."

Most of us take a bit of an issue with Mary who was talking to Jesus while her sister Martha did all the scrubby work in the kitchen and around the house. It is more than a tad jolting that Jesus did not show even the suggestion of sympathy with over-worked Martha.

Perhaps Jesus uses some shock psychology to get our attention, but he tells us in no uncertain terms that he wants us to give him and his Word the lion's share of our time, thoughts, words, activities, talent and energy every day of our lives.

"So, I guess I need to begin with myself," I mused. "What passion of mine answers to that comprehensive description?"

I did not have to think long. Although I am a person of many passions such as sports, airplanes, spacecraft, astronomy, gardening, cooking, politics, swimming, boating, fishing and storytelling, sports jump out as the prime focus and mover of all these things.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Somewhat embarrassed, I made a sheepish comparison between my time spent on the Word of God and my time devoted in some way to various aspects of sports.

Sadly, there was no contest at all. Sports won over the Word of God hands down on most given days.

You will ask how this is possible in the life of a man of the cloth who supposedly is devoted to proclaiming the Word after first digesting it himself. In order to understand this, split me into the conscious and the subconscious.

My conscious persona is doing fine, even great; for I do read the Word often, study it, absorb it and, above all, digest it. It is safe to say that I am sufficiently armed to preach.

However, my subconscious persona does so many times more than my conscious one that it is frightening, since most of what it does is not concerning the Word of God. Rather, it involves my main passion: sports.

While I do not spend many conscious hours learning about and digesting sports, my subconscious wears that subject out. As if in a back room study, my subconscious memory and imagination play and replay home runs of today and yesterday from the 73 of Barry Bonds back to Home Run Baker who hit all of 12 in one season. The Bible verses committed to memory are hard put to compete with the scope and accuracy of my knowledge of home runs over the years.

The same tug-of-war in me obtains between specific knowledge of Scripture verses and personal batting averages, stolen bases, runs batted in, runs scored, slugging average, earned run averages of pitchers, strikeouts, fielding percentage and overall excellence.

Altogether, the passion which I have for sports runs an unknown degree of intensity and knowledge ahead of the passion which I have for the Word of God. It is troubling to realize that my subconscious mind uses most spare moments to hone sports lore.

The dubious upshot of this reflection on my main passion is that I am not running on all cylinders in pursuit of the Word of God. What a world-beater I would be in reading, understanding, digesting, absorbing and proclaiming the Word if I had just half of the subconscious hits on the Word as I have on sports! My subconscious needs changing.

What is the overwhelming passion of your life? If not sports, is it perhaps music to the point where you must have some phase or form of it almost every waking hour? Are you like teenagers and young adults who groove in the house, in the car and when walking around? Do you do a near constant head and body beat, even when no music is playing?

I doubt there is any doubt in the minds of most people just what their main passion in life is. Just in case, however, how can you tell when the indicators within and without you seem a bit ambiguous? It is elementary when we consider what passion is.

While all our other desires, ambitions and pursuits in life may have some excitement, flair and interest, passion lights us up and fires us on relentlessly. Even more, passion consumes most of our thoughts, energy and time in a lifelong race to the finish.

Fatigue, boredom and plain old lack of concentration and focus afflict us at times when we are dealing with the run-of-the-mill pursuits of our lives. Sooner or later, our interest wanes, our excitement flags, and the wellsprings of our energy and drive dry up.

Not so with the main passion of our lives. Even when sleep is in the process of taking over, when we are so dazed from fatigue that we seem to be intoxicated, when we are down to the last unit of our energy, our main passion inspires, compels and drives us.

Yes, the very essence of passion is that it moves us in spite of red, fazed and dazed eyes which are just a hair removed from sleep and prolonged unconsciousness.

There is no mistaking the main passion of our lives, because nothing else electrifies us so.

Now you be the judge and you make the call. How does the main passion of your life compare to your drive to hear, understand, digest, assimilate and proclaim the Word of God? It is safe to say that we all need to adjust both our conscious and subconscious.

Scripture Says ...

By Ed Young

The Covenant

God almighty has made a covenant with Israel that has been enforced for thousands of years. It started with Noah and continued with Abram, who we know as Abraham.

In the same day the Lord made a covenant with Abram saying, unto thy seed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river of Euphrates. Gen. 15:18

Deep in the hearts of many Jews is this unspoken awareness that God has a covenant with them.

I have made a covenant with my chosen, I have sworn unto David, my servant; Thy seed will I establish forever, and build up thy throne to all generations. Psalm 89:3 & 4.

The Gospel of Matthew chapter one verse eighteen brings the covenant live to the Christ, Jesus Son of God. In 1967 Israel was invaded by the surrounding countries in the attempt to destroy the Jews who were living there. In six days the Israelites defeated 10 nations by destroying their invading armies. Many believe God's hand was in that.

That 1967 six day war Israel got back its capitol for the first time in 2,000 years. Is God covenant unfolding?

This covenant land will be where the Lord Jesus will return an establish His government; Jerusalem will be His seat of rule, Israel will be restored and the nations of the world will honor the King of King and Lord of Lords.

In reference to a covenant, when we take communication we are in covenant with God. Isn't that nice to know!

The "Word" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Satan's ploy, man's demise

You have probably played the game where you pass a message from one person to another around a large circle. It's fun to see how the message is changed when one person whispers it to another. Sometimes the meaning of the message is completely changed so that it is quite the opposite from when it began. We laugh because it is just a game. But when we are not playing games and a message is changed so that we receive the wrong information, the consequences can be drastic.

For example, the Bible is God's message to men and women. God says, "You shall not add to the word which I am commanding you, nor take away from it, that you may keep the commandments of the Lord your God which I command you" (Deuteronomy 4:2). Now if you change God's message by adding to the Bible or taking away from what it says, it becomes impossible to follow God. Why? Because, if you change God's word, the Bible, you really don't know for sure what God has said. All of this can have eternal consequences. You see, God calls you to trust in the death of His Son, Jesus Christ, as the only adequate payment for your sins. God says that trusting in Christ in the only way to heaven. If this message were changed or taken out of the Bible, then you could miss eternal life in heaven with God. You could spend eternity separated from the grace of God. Of course, this is just what God's enemy, Satan, wants. Satan's biggest trick is to change God's word. He loves to whisper lies in your ear. He wants to turn you away from God and He wants to turn you away from the Savior, Jesus Christ. Don't let him do it. D'head Brownies get creative

Rachel Courtney earns Rebekah Kennedy Memorial scholarship

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Rachel Courtney, a recent graduate of Hancock High School, was awarded the Rebekah Kennedy Memorial Scholarship in recent award ceremonies for graduating seniors.

An honor roll student throughout her academic career, Rachel is a member of Who's Who Among American High School Students. She has maintained high academic standard even though she was faced with her mother's extended illness and ultimate death in March this year.

Ms. Courtney was active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Beta Club, Health Occupation Student of America, Cheerleading, and her church. She plans to pursue a nursing degree at Pearl River Community College.

In addition to maintaining superior academic endeavors, Rachel found time for nursing home visits, Multiple Sclerosis Walk-A-Thon, FCA Adopt An Angel, and various food and clothing drives.

The scholarship is paid from a perpetual fund set up to memorialize Rebekah Kennedy, a pioneer guidance counselor for Hancock County Schools. A long time supporter of quality education for all children, Mrs. Kennedy championed students to stay in school, continuing their education at all levels. Only the interest on the account is used to pay the scholarship.

Donations may still be made to the fund and are an excellent way to memorialize or honor a friend or family.

Donations may be sent to the Rebekah Kennedy Memorial Scholarship Fund, C/O Guidance Department, at Hancock High School, 7084 Stennis Drive, Kiln, Ms., 39556. More information may be obtained from Mr. Mike Murphy at 228-467-2388.

Children with dip nets exploring the "mini-wetland" at the Pass Christian Library during a recent Bureau of Marine Resources presentation for the library's summer reading program.

Pass Christian Public Library Summer Reading Program 2004

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Pass Christian Public Library announces its 2004 Summer Reading program. This year's theme is "Step To The Beat-Read!" The Library has been sponsoring programs throughout the month of June.

On Wednesday, June 16, Jennifer Buchanan and Alexis Howell-Kubler from the Bureau of Marine Resources visited the Pass Christian Library. There were two special programs at the Pass Christian Library.

In the morning program (focusing on children ages 8 and younger), Ms. Jennifer and Ms. Alexis read a book about a manatee, showed the children a video about biodiversity, and introduced the audience to the "critters" they brought along. These included crabs, turtles, and snails.

In the afternoon, a large group of young people and adults walked to the "mini-wetland" just west of the Pass Christian Harbor to study biodiversity first hand. The crabs and snails from the morning program were released at this time. Children with dip nets and buckets enjoyed learning

Jennifer Buchanan discusses marine life with the children about our marine resources up close and personal.

In all, the programs reached more than 55 children and 26 adults. The library appreciates the assistance of the Bureau of Marine Resources in presenting this program for the benefit of the children.

Jefferson Davis home offers new look at an old friend

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Home and Presidential Library announces a new special exhibit, Ship Island: A new look at an old friend. This new exhibit is part of the regular admission fee for Beauvoir and can be seen in the Confederate Museum. The exhibit will be on display through April 2005.

Ship Island has had a long and interesting history and this special exhibit, starts with a film produced by Mississippi Power and explores the "Rebuilding the Legend: Ship Island Lighthouse" in a brand new theatre built specifically for the exhibit. The film begins the visitor's journey of this historic island. Large maps and visuals tell the tale of the fort, first known as Fort Twiggs and later changed to Fort Massachusetts and its relationship with many other fortifications around the Gulf of Mexico. Visitors can learn the island's history through the letters and journals of the many inhabitants of the island throughout the years.

Such letters include the viewpoint of a lonely Union soldier before the battle of New Orleans, and a captured Confederate soldier on his way to Ship Island POW camp in the last months of the War Between the States. A POW camp vignette shows the small tents and provisions used by the prisoners during their time on Ship Island. This exhibit displays copies of the only known photos taken on Ship Island during the war, with permission of C.P. Weaver, editor of the diary of Colonel Nathan W. Daniels.

Today Ship Island is now part of the National Park System and is enjoyed by thousands of visitors every year. After thorough restoration of the fort and rebuilding the lighthouse

Kitty Wells is known all over the world as "The Undisputed Queen of Country Music", a title which was bestowed on her after her 1952-recording of "It Wasn't God Who Made Honky Tonk Angels" made her the very first female ever to have a number one record on the country music charts.

Since that time she has had an amazing 23 number one chart records including such classics as "Making Believe," "Mommy for a Day," "Heartbreak USA," "Dust on the Bible" and "Please Release Me." Now a member of Nashville's Country Music Hall of Fame, Kitty continues to receive accolades as the lady who started it all by such entertainers as Loretta Lynn, Dolly Parton, Reba McEntire and Patsi Loveless. Her success worldwide can best be summed up in the words of her son and co-performer Bobby Wright, "No matter where in the world we go to perform, everybody's heard of Kitty Wells!" Today she tours with her husband, Johnny Wright and son Bobby in "The Kitty Wells Show," the longest running family show in country music.

Grammy award winning singer-songwriter, Jerry Reed began his recording career at the age of 17 and Reed has received a People's Choice Award, three Grammy awards, and two CMA awards.

Composer and musician "Whispering" Bill Anderson wrote his first country classic, "City Lights," when he was nineteen. Since then he's had a string of hits including, "Po' Folks," "Mama Sang A Song," "The Tip of My Fingers," and the country and pop smash, "Still." He's also the composer behind the Mark Willis #1, "Wish You Were Here," and "Two Tears Apart" which also reached #1 when recorded by Steve Wariner in 1999. Anderson has also the first country music host a network game show, starring on ABC's "The Better Sex." Anderson's music can be heard on recent recordings by Vince Gill, Lorie Morgan, John Michael Montgomery, Collin Raye, Sara Evans, Kenny Chesney and Brad Paisley.

Ralph Emery made his mark on country music as the host of "Nashville Now" for over ten years. He brought country music's biggest star and fresh new faces together for music and talk in a warm relaxed setting.

In addition Emery has worked as a disc-jockey, a reporter, and now hosts a new series on TNN.

David Newsom

By John Crook
© Zap2it

When he isn't working late, David Newsom is spending his nights being thankful to be a part of "The Days," the new ABC Sunday night dramedy in which he plays Jack Day, a 40-ish husband and father trying to reinvent himself after abandoning a suffocating law practice.

"The scripts are far superior to anything I've had the opportunity to do for a long time," says the actor, who is roughly the same age as his character after years of "playing younger."

"I've done lots of pilots, and I have worked on some really beautiful things, but this material is incredibly creative and human. These are such richly idiosyncratic characters that John (Scott Shepherd, the series creator) has written. It's a complete pleasure to try to mine this universe."

Newsom says he has no problem at all understanding why Jack walks away from a high-paying but stagnant office job.

"The most untenable thing for me was having to go into an office every day," he recalls of his own work experience. "That was a completely hostile environment. It was deadening, and I don't mean that as a value assessment for everyone, because it works for some people."

"We are just very particular animals, and I think you have to discover the particular ecosystem that you are best suited for. I wanted to eat my own head instead of going back into that place every day."

In his spare time Newsom also does fine art photography, but his "Days" work is its own reward, he says.

"Actors have way too much chance to 'relax' in their careers as it is," he laughs. "I love this job, and if I had my way, I'd never find the time to 'relax' again!"

Hometown: North Caldwell, N.J.
Birthday: February 10

Education: Earned a degree in film production from Ithaca (N.Y.) College.

Jack of all trades: Over the years, Newsom has supported himself as a band singer, alternative newspaper editor, writer, waiter, delivery man, blasting crew member, beer bottler, fence installer and set builder.

No small parts: Made his stage debut as a waiter in "Death of a Salesman."

Big break: Getting cast as Scott Bakula's brother in a two-part episode of "Quantum Leap" (1990).

Series credits: "Homefront," "House Rules," "Talk to Me."

Pets: Burt, "a scruffy junkyard dog with an uncanny resemblance to Tramp," age 10.

Lance Henriksen causes new scares

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Terror is Lance Henriksen's business.

The actor's haunted, intense look has served him well in numerous horror and suspense projects, and this summer, he's enjoying a bumper crop.

The first season of his former Fox series "Millennium" has just been released on DVD; he returns to the "Alien" movie franchise in the upcoming "Alien Vs. Predator"; and he plays a Los Angeles police captain who battles vampires in the new Sci-Fi Channel thriller "Out for Blood" Saturday, July 31.

"It was fun," Henriksen says of working on "Out for Blood" with co-stars Kevin Dillon and Jodi Lyn O'Keefe, "because we didn't have millions and millions of dollars to throw at it. I like that, because you end up using your imagination. In the early days, the most special effects you would have were latex applications on actors, but I didn't mind. It's all part of the employment of imagination."

"Millennium" fans will be pleased that Fox Home Entertainment also is planning DVD releases for the other two seasons of "X-Files" mentor Chris Carter's moody saga of Frank Black (Henriksen), the former FBI profiler battling the darkest evils. "I heard (the first-season set) had the second or third highest number of pre-sales ever on Amazon.com," Henriksen reports. "It's just going wild. I got nominated for a Golden Globe Award every year I did the show, so it was amazing."

"Alien Vs. Predator" finds Henriksen putting a different spin on Bishop, the android he played in "Aliens," since he now appears as the present-day industrialist the futuristic robot will be modeled after. "It's almost closure," Henriksen reflects. "I did a couple of nods to 'Alien' fans when we made the movie, and they've been left in."

'Dead Like Me' not as grave as second season premieres

George Lingo (Ellen Men) jumps into controversy on the first day of the new of her dash as Deed Lingo M.C. Begins his second season Sunday, July 26 on Showtime.

Fans of the dark comedy will remember that George (short for George) spent much of Season 1 in a vile mood and understandably so. After all, the bright but aimless teenager had been fatally creamed by a toilet seat from the plummeting Mir space station. George's messy demise threw her into the arms of her new mentor, Rube (Mandy Patinkin), a crusty pragmatist who quickly recruited her for his team of Grim Reapers: the beings assigned to remove the souls of the living and point them toward their designated afterlife.

Nonplussed to discover that her own auntie requested her to work at a temp agency called Happy Time to make things meet, George also spent many nonstop hours at an eatery called Der Weisse Haus with Rube and the rest of his team: cranky meter maid Roxy (Jasmine Guy); Daley (Laura Harris), a dazzlingly self-absorbed former actress; and Mason (Callum Blue), a feckless Brit slacker who has carried his penchant for substance abuse beyond the grave.

Season 1 ended last September as a more mature George made peace with her new role in the cosmos, even as she sadly watched the marriage of her parents (Cynthia Stevenson, Greg Kinnear) come unglued under the stress of her death.

"I'm playing George quite a bit differently this season, and I'm glad you picked up on the fact that she kind of made peace with her situation at the end of last season," Muth says during a production break on the show's Vancouver set. "This season is a lot funnier, now in a domestic and emotional life, she is also becoming more of a woman and more sure of her sexuality. As far as the meaning of suicide, she now views her job the way the other Receptionists do. It's a job, you do it and it's done, so there you go."

George's newfound confidence spills into her goofy office routine at Happy Time as well, where new friends begin to gravitate toward the once-lonely teenager.

"Early in last season, George was very worried about other people's emotions, especially now they saw her and felt she was 'outside looking in.' Much explains. This year, she still hopes people will accept her for who she is, but if they don't, she's OK with that. Oddly, because she has that confidence, the people around her like her more. She becomes more a part of the Reeper family, and she also is able to get along with people more outside of their circle as well."

Things that go on at Happy Times are very funny this year, and if you were watching last year, some of the people you saw then as basically extras emerge as real characters in their own right this season, at least to some degree. And they also manage to cast the best guest stars on this show! They are just amazing, and work very well with the rest of us.

The new episodes this season also contain hints that George's destiny as Reaper may have been preordained on some level. Certainly she is suspiciously good at this bizarre job and, Muth notes, she is the only character able to see the Gravelings, mischief-making gremlins who often set into motion the fatal last events in an impending tragedy.

"The fact that she's the only one of the team who can actually see the Gravelings means that she gets a kind of head's up as far as which person around her is about to die," Muth points out.

As for her fellow Reapers, look for the lovely Harris to have a dalliance with "Will & Grace" star Eric McCormack in multi-episode arc. Viewers will be making other discoveries about Daisy. Muth reveals many of which uncover an unexpected depth to this wistful beauty. "Daisy comes across as very high-maintenance and hard to deal with and very confident, yet this year we discover a lot of insecurities she has," Muth says. "All that cockiness is actually a cover-up. She actually has a very dark side that starts to be revealed this season."

'Dawson's Creek' star busy with film work

Q ■ What happened to Michelle Williams from "Dawson's Creek"? Has she been in anything recently? -Cheryl in Columbus, Ohio.

A Williams has scarcely come up for air since "Creek" dried up last year, and the 23-year-old beauty is hard at work with some of the world's best directors.

As of this writing, Williams is filming Ang Lee's ("Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon") "Brokeback Mountain," a gay love story starring Heath Ledger and Jake Gyllenhaal.

Also in various stages of production are "Land of Plenty," a drama for director Wim Wenders; a romantic comedy called "The Baxter"; and the drama "Safety Glass" with Mandy Moore. Williams also has a featured role in the award-winning "The Station Agent," recently released on DVD.

Q Who is the actress who plays Elizabeth Rodgers, the medical examiner, on "Law & Order"? I think she is a great asset to the show. Marilyn Murphy, Bend, Ore.

A Since joining "L&O" in 1992, New York-based actress Leslie Hendrik has become a fan favorite with her memorable, if brief, weekly appearances as the tart, Rodgers, a role she has reprised in "L&O: Criminal Intent" and "L&O: Special Victims Unit," as well as the Chris Noth TV movie spinoff "Exiled."

In addition to small film roles in "Sweet Home Alabama" and "Went to Coney Island on a Mission From God... Be Back by Five" Hendrix has made guest appearances on "Third Watch" and "All My Children."

On Broadway, she co-starred in "Hollywood Arms," the nostalgic comedy. Carol Burnett co-wrote with her daughter Carrie Hamilton, as well as "Indiscretions" with Kathleen Turner and Jude Law, and the recent revival of "The Music Man."

The 'Graham Norton Effect' is bawdy, funny and well done

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Graham Norton, in a black-and-white print suit with sequins, black patent leather shoes and a glittery lavender shirt, holds a glass of white wine as he stands in the wings of his new stage. Smelling great and seemingly calm for someone making his American debut, he saunters out to meet the audience on the first night of summer.

The 200 folks cheer wildly as the first taping of "The Graham Norton Effect," airing Thursdays on Comedy Central, begins.

Fans know him from six years of "So Graham Norton" on BBC America, and the new show is very much like the old show. Norton is playful, has the audience share their peccadilloes, chats with a celebrity or two - divas preferred - and uses the Internet and on-the-street cameras as fodder for jokes.

The remarkable thing is what people tell him. Perhaps it is because Norton, an openly gay, gracious and friendly fellow, is not threatening. Perhaps it is because people have no sense of decency. Regardless, folks tell him stories best shared only with those who have seen the confessor naked.

"I don't know why people would tell those stories they do in the beginning of the show," Norton says the morning after the first taping. "They don't seem to be rather needy people. They just seem like they want to play a game. I have no theory in explaining it. People get carried away because it is like they are at a party. They tell stories like that down at the bar."

Sure, if you happen to be knocking back Cosmopolitans and your stool mates are Carrie, Samantha, Miranda and Charlotte.

"I can't explain why people do these things," Norton says, referring to a bizarre stunt that went over well. For his inaugural show, several couples audio taped themselves making love, and sent the results to a message machine. The sounds are used as a basis for a game, where guests Sandra Bernhard and Marlon Wayans match the noisemaker to the person who elicited the groan.

Those with delicate sensibilities will be ruffled, but viewers need to remember this is a 10 p.m. show on a cable station. Even with more relaxed standards, some words are bleeped out, and much was cut from the taping.

The first show came in at just over 80 minutes. It needs to be 44 minutes to fit into its one-hour slot with commercials and credits. Some of what was cut was exceedingly strange, such as the man who talked about receiving pleasure from his girlfriend at a college library - until security guards caught them. Rather than bust them, the guards demanded they sing "I'm a Little Teapot" while hopping on one leg.

Norton's response: "And this was after they saw your little spout?"

The audience knows what lies ahead. As people queue up two hours before the taping, they lean against the walls of Manhattan's Chelsea Studios filling out a form that asks questions such as "Have you ever been embarrassed in front of your family?" "Have you ever had a sexual experience you would rather forget?" "Have you ever been inappropriately dressed?" "Do you have a different embarrassing experience you would like to share with Graham?"

As they wait, Norton runs through jokes one last time. The set is a riot of color, with lime and chartreuse fabric rectangles on the walls. Studio walls are black and covered with discs resembling those of the compact variety. His desk is the only holdover from his U.K. show, according to executive producer Graham Stuart.

"I'm a little bit nervous," Norton admits, still in street clothes. "I've got a job back home. This is my summer job. It is the equivalent of picking grapes."

He jokes because the Irishman naturally makes jokes. But this gig is important to him. Norton adores New York, where he has an apartment.

"He wants this to be a regular gig in New York," Stuart says. "This is a quintessentially American format. It is one of the staples of American broadcasting. He has taken it and adapted it for Britain."

"America is the most welcoming country on Earth," Stuart says. "In Europe, it is fashionable to be anti-American. We're in New York and could not be more excited."

"We hope people looking for a genuine alternative will find us," he says. Though Norton is a huge star in the U.K. after years of struggling as an actor, he remains relatively unknown here.

Comedy Central, though, is doing its utmost to remedy that, plastering Norton's face on bus shelters and phone kiosks around Manhattan, and placing ads all over the Internet. "He is recognized," Stuart says. "There are Brits here and the gay audience."

Stuart insists, though, that Norton's audience goes beyond that.

"This is a flamboyant entertainment show presented by an incredibly talented entertainer who happens to be gay," Stuart says. "He has never made a gay show."

Graham Norton hosts Comedy Central's "The Graham Norton Effect" Thursdays. "Sadly, it takes more than one person" to find oddities, he says of the segment highlighting weird Web sites.

True enough, and because Norton is simply out, it is not an issue. He makes jokes about his sexuality, and his wardrobe alone is a study in glitter glam. Incidentally, Norton is having a fashion crisis - his clothes were seized by customs.

"Who knew the fashion police worked the border patrol?" Norton says during his warm-up to the audience, while apologizing for wearing a suit some may have seen before.

He later explains that an assistant packed his suits and included a list featuring items such as a "crocodile jacket." Some dim-witted bureaucrat wrongly assumed Norton's clothes were tailored from endangered species. This particular jacket happens to be a Gucci cloth jacket with a crocodile-like veneer. "Nothing died to make my clothes," he says.

Like his suits, Norton fully realizes his show is not for everyone. Those who appreciate sequins and campiness find him irresistible. "Patently the show is not for all tastes," Norton says. "It is not a mainstream show. It is a show that doesn't exist on American television right now, and I hope it finds an audience and the audience finds it."

Cuoco keeps it simple to commit 'Crimes of Fashion'

Fashion plate or mafia princess? In a new TV movie, Kaley Cuoco gets to be both.

The young actress moonlights from the ABC sitcom "8 Simple Rules" as a would-be clothing designer with ties to the underworld in the comedy "Crimes of Fashion" Sunday, July 25, on ABC Family. Cuoco's character, Brooke, was raised in foster care. Thus, the impact on her is limited when the grandfather she never knew dies.

The effect is much greater when Brooke learns her late relative's occupation: He was a gangster who willed the family business to her. She's not sure she wants it until his chief aide - played by Dominic Chianese, alias Uncle Junior of HBO's "The Sopranos" - tells her the venture already is on the road to becoming legitimate.

Brooke's sudden wealth opens many doors and attracts new friends, with one fellow student (Pat Kelly) holding particular appeal for her. She doesn't know he's actually an FBI agent who's out to get the goods on the business Brooke has inherited. Will love conquer all? Name a made-for-ABC Family movie that has ended otherwise.

In any event, Cuoco is excited since "Crimes of Fashion" is the first project she carries as the principal star. "I think this is a good start," she says. "I worked really hard and put a lot of focus and energy into it. It's not like I'll never work again if it bombs, but I feel confident. I wanted to show people I could hold my own in a movie."

The past season's more dramatic moments on "8 Simple Rules" (since star John Ritter's death) helped prepare Cuoco for her latest acting challenge. She points to a story in which her typically flighty character, Bridget Hennessy, had the lead in a school production of "The Diary of Anne Frank."

"With everything that happened this past year, we had some great, emotional episodes that showed our dramatic sides," Cuoco reflects. "Still, that was a little different because it was so real to us. Those were real feelings, what was really in our hearts, so being able to show I could do something other than dress up and be cute was important. For half of 'Crimes of Fashion,' I play a total geek who dresses badly. I had to persuade the producer; she came to an '8 Simple Rules' taping, and I don't think she thought I could do this."

Cuoco also departed from her weekly role last year in NBC's high-rated miniseries "10.5." She recalls that the earthquake drama in which she played a teenager fleeing the disaster with her father "got just awful reviews. The best part was that they never mentioned my name. I never got told I was great, but I never got told I was horrible, either."

Within a week of ending the second year of "8 Simple Rules," Cuoco was on the Toronto set of "Crimes of Fashion." Soon to lend her voice to an animated Disney Channel series, "Brandy & Mr. Whiskers," she'll also be on view in the independent movie "Debating Robert Lee," slated to hit theaters shortly after "8 Simple Rules" begins its third season this fall in its new Friday slot.

"I'm really happy about that decision," Cuoco says of the show's move from Tuesdays. "I didn't think I would be, but we have to get away from 'American Idol.' People would watch us at the beginning of the season and we'd have great ratings. Then when January came, they'd all go watch 'American Idol' - and I was one of them! I think Friday will just be a lot better for us."

Kaley Cuoco ("8 Simple Rules") stars as an aspiring fashion designer who inherits the family business - an underworld operation - in the new comedy movie "Crimes of Fashion" Sunday on ABC Family. The young woman sets out to make the company legitimate, while an incognito FBI agent she's falling for watches her every move.

ESPN marks 25 years with top-25 lists on 'Who's No. 1'

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

Stuart Scott will be the first to tell you he's not really one for lists, but he will admit his 13-episode series "ESPN25: Who's No. 1" piqued his interest.

"I mean, they told me about the idea," Scott says, "and I know how passionate sports fans argue about things. That was the biggest thing: it was the fact that people would argue about it. They'd argue about who was No. 1. They'd argue about the choices. They'd argue, 'What is this doing there?' 'Why is that there?' And I've gotten some calls on my voice mail, and of course, everybody thinks that I did it. I can't believe you so-and-so-and-so-and-so-and-so. I'm like, 'Hey, dude, I had one vote.'"

In case you're not aware, each installment of the Tuesday series endeavors to list the top 25 in a specific category, such as best sports movies, best blunders, most outrageous characters, best teams, biggest chokes and best coaches, based on the poll of a "blue-ribbon panel," of which Scott is a member. This show, along with Bob Ley's "ESPN25: The Headlines," is part of the ESPN25 project that began in mid-June that looks at the dramatic growth and change in sports over the nearly 25 years ESPN has been in existence.

For his part, Scott is blown away by the passion these lists have inspired among fans. He admits to not necessarily agreeing with the final entries, as was the case with the June 29 show on best sports movies, which put "Field of Dreams," "Raging Bull" and "Hoosiers" in the top three and none of the "Rocky" movies in the top 25. "See, I'd put 'Rocky II' and 'Rocky III' in there, to be honest," Scott says. "I mean, I love 'Rocky IV,' but I wouldn't quite put it in there. But 'Rocky II' and 'Rocky III,' definitely. 'Rocky V' - Tommy Gunn? Nah, not quite. Definitely 'Rocky II' and 'Rocky III.'"

"I think 'Remember the Titans' should have been higher (than No. 10). ... Personally, 'Hoosiers' was not my favorite sports movie. I know it was a great movie, but it just wasn't my favorite. I liked 'A League of Their Own' better than 'Hoosiers.' My favorite on that list is 'Remember the Titans.' I actually saw a screening of it with my wife and my siblings. We were in New York when it was coming out and I had just done an interview with Denzel (Washington), so we just saw like a little private screening. I loved the movie. I think it's a very good movie. I don't think it's THE best sports movie ever made, but on that list, it's my favorite."

Scott also found doing this week's show on best coaches also made for good discussion. "Coaches was real interesting," Scott says, "because you could shuffle that tote board any way you wanted. I mean, Anson Dorrance, Carolina's women's soccer coach, he was like No. 22 or 23. You could easily make the argument that he's top five - easily. I mean, 18 national championships. He coached the men's and women's teams in Carolina for a while. He coached the U.S. national team. I mean, you could just easily, easily make that argument. And it's like that throughout the coach's list."

"Mike Krzyzewski is ahead of John Wooden, I think. OK, why? I'm not sure. And again, I can buy it. I can buy it easily. But I can also buy that John Wooden should be ahead of Coach K. And I'm not debating that Coach K should be ahead of John Wooden, but somebody could sit and debate it the other way, and I could completely buy into it. So that's why I think coaches was just a real tough one."

"You know, Phil Jackson, I think, was ahead of Wooden. OK, great, I get it. But I also get John Wooden being No. 1 easy. I get Dean Smith being No. 1. And even though I'm a Tar Heel - I love Dean, every time I see the man, he gives me a hug. So, I'm not arguing that Dean shouldn't be No. 1. But John Wooden - nine titles; Dean Smith - two titles."

As for lists he wished were on the show, Scott says, "There are always some. I was thinking about one once: the 25 biggest verbal tirades of the last 25 years. Because you could run video and audio on that. There are a ton of Bob Knight, Lou Piniella, Hal McRae had one, Don Chaney and John Calipari. Billy Martin."

"25 sweetest moments in sports. You know, Magic and Isiah kissing each other on the court. Just anything that's soft and sweet like that - whatever."

"2004 Baseball Hall of Fame Induction Ceremonies" Sunday, July 25 (ESPN Classic, 1:30 p.m. ET): The ultimate baseball scenario - a proficient, clutch hitter facing a shut 'em down closer - is relived in a different way on a different stage today when Paul Molitor and Dennis Eckersley are inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame. Molitor collected 3,319 hits (eighth all time) over 21 seasons, and becomes the first predominantly designated hitter to enter the Hall. Eckersley ended his 24-year career third on the all-time saves list (390).

"Cycling" Sunday, July 25 (CBS, 2 p.m. ET): Lance Armstrong's attempt at riding into immortality ends today in the 20th and final stage of the Tour de France. Beginning in Montreux, the 261-mile trek finally allows the cyclists to celebrate as they cruise into the French capital and the world famous Champs-Elysees. Only then will we know whether the five-time reigning champion will be all alone in the record books as the only man to win six Tours.

"Golf" Thursday, July 29 (TNT, 10 a.m. ET): Two Open championships tee off today, the first on TNT featuring Annika Sorenstam defending her title in Berkshire, England, in the Women's British Open. The world's best female player, Sorenstam has seven majors to her credit, including this year's LPGA Championship. Then, ESPN carries coverage of the U.S. Senior Open from St. Louis. Bruce Lietzke, despite a 2-over final round a year ago, held on to defeat Tom Watson for his first career major win.

Sunday Best Bets

7 p.m. and DSC

Primal Screen

You may not want to go near the water, or even near your TV set, as the channel's annual "Shark Week" begins. First up is this account of underwater photographer Valerie De La Valdene's terrifying experience alone at sea off the Galapagos Islands — alone, that is, except for the sharks that encircled her. She eventually swam three miles through danger to reach shore; here, she returns to the site of her horrific ordeal.

7 p.m. and FAM

Movie: Crimes of Fashion

Kaley Cuoco moonlights from the series "8 Simple Rules" to star in this new comedy movie as a would-be fashion designer who suddenly inherits a lot of responsibilities. Her grandfather's death reveals he was an underworld boss, who bequeathed his empire to her. She relies on his top aide (Dominic Chianese, "The Sopranos") to help her turn the family business into a legitimate venture that will fuel her own dreams.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: Murder on the Orient Express

Now playing the tentacle villain in "Spider-Man 2," Alfred Molina puts a laid-back spin on superleuth Hercule Poirot in this thoroughly modern 2001 adaptation of Agatha Christie's classic. As in the original, Poirot is riding the luxurious Orient Express when a fellow passenger is slain. The victim (Peter Strauss) is an obnoxious antiquities dealer with a secret past — and lots of enemies.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio)

Kathryn Erbe) investigate the Mafia after a government witness and an undercover cop are murdered. The probe boils down to two warring crime families, with Russian mobsters also factoring in. A don who is on his deathbed may be key to solving the homicides.

8 p.m. on HBO

Six Feet Under

Two vastly different events are staged at the funeral home on the same night. David (Michael C. Hall) doesn't know how to respond to the outpouring of sympathy directed toward him. Nate (Peter Krause) finds a surprising shelter. Claire (Lauren Ambrose) takes a trip with her artistic peers. Ruth (Frances Conroy) is annoyed with George (James Cromwell).

All My Children

After Seth lied to the cops that he sold Jamie the drugs to give to Babe, Jamie was arrested, much to everyone's shock. Almost everyone's shock. Hurt when Ted believed that he drugged Babe, J.R. cut ties with him. Reggie turned down Derek's offer to incriminate Jamie in exchange for ending his probation. Jonathan took responsibility for a huge business mistake at Fusion, but Ryan refused to allow Kendall to fire him. As Ryan felt certain that Zach is keeping secrets about himself, Zach convinced Bianca that he has no hidden agenda regarding helping the Miranda Montgomery Center. Ryan prevented Adam and J.R. from regaining control of Chandler Enterprises. Coming: David makes a big effort to protect Babe.

As the World Turns

Molly was given police protection and went to stay at Carly and Jack's place, but Starzak shot the cop and battled with Molly as Jack raced in to help subdue him. As Jack drove an injured Starzak to the hospital, a struggle ensued and their car went off a bridge into the water. James ordered Rosanna to consummate her marriage with Jordan for Cabot's sake, but Jordan went off with Jennifer and Paul declared his love to a weakening Rosanna. After Dusty was freed, he set his sites on exposing Craig, and ended up sharing a kiss with Lucy. Margo was appalled to find Tom with Jill, who had been telling him what she knows. Coming: Despite the risk, Chris and Emily grow closer.

Bold and Beautiful

Thorne blocked the preview of the youth line because he was not pleased by the risque clothing, then punched Ridge, who had had mouthed Daria. Later, when Daria confronted Ridge, he threatened her and she responded with her own. Daria turned down Clarke's appeal to steal the Ingenue proofs for Sally to knock off, but she accidentally gave them to Sally, thinking the envelope contained birthday photos. Aware of Ridge's warning against seeing Caitlin, Rick couldn't help himself as they went to the cabin at Big Bear and ended up sharing a passionate kiss. Samantha agreed to keep Rick and Caitlin's romance secret from Hector, for now. Coming: Daria unwittingly puts herself in a risky position.

Days of Our Lives

While searching for Jennifer in the jungle, Patrick revealed to Hope that he was sent to Salem to target Jennifer, but as he got to know her, he realized that he had to stay to protect her. Meanwhile, Jennifer fell off the rope bridge into the ravine and Jack was too weak to help her. When Philip traced Jan to a house on Kent Island, he and Belle paid her a surprise visit. On hearing Belle's voice, a caged Shawn started yelling her name. When Sam saw the bear, she had thrown into Marlena's coffin, John convinced Bo to call the D.A. and get a court order to exhume her casket and see if the grave has been tampered with, as a distraught Sam was unable to stop him. Coming: Bo refuses to believe that Hope is gone forever.

General Hospital

Sam confessed her secret to Jason and introduced him to her mentally retarded brother, Danny. Carly and Sonny reconciled, while Sam was arrested, and Ric led Sam to believe that Carly had turned her in to the police. Alexis reluctantly agreed to defend Sam. Jax convinced Courtney that her inability to have children shouldn't prevent them from furthering their relationship. Faith held Jax at gunpoint, demanding he fly her out of the country. Daytime shark Rick Hearst takes lessons from 'Jaws'

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

Just when you thought it was safe to go back in the water, the Discovery Channel premieres its annual "Shark Week" Sunday, July 25. Front and center for the weeklong underwater thrill will be "General Hospital's" Rick Hearst (Ric Lansing), one of daytime's favorite two-legged sharks.

The ABC soap star, along with his sons, promises to be plopped in front of the television from start to finish. Hearst comes by his interest in the deep-sea predators from his dad, who was a Navy frogman.

"We used to go fishing on a regular basis on weekends," Hearst recalls. "He had a great knowledge of the sea, and I developed an appreciation of that."

So much so that Hearst heads underwater for a bit of scuba when his schedule allows, but to date, he hasn't had his own Jaws-like encounter. "When I am down there, it is a complete feeling of letting go," he says. "It rocks."

Also this summer, SOAPnet is introducing its third original series, "Soapography," a half-hour, in-depth look at the personal lives of today's hottest daytime stars. Susan Lucci and Cameron Mathison ("All My Children"), Allison Sweeney ("Days of Our Lives") and Lisa Rinna will be among the first stars to be profiled. Look for "Soapography" on the cable channel Saturdays beginning in August.

As previously mentioned, Kirsten Storms exits "Days of Our Lives" to begin work on the upcoming CBS series "Clubhouse." Newcomer Charity Rahmer will play the role of Belle Black.

Send questions of general interest to Paulette Cohn, Soap Talk, Zap2it, 333 Glen St., Glen Falls, NY 12801, or e-mail to Democrats unite to anoint their candidate — who, unless something hugely unforeseen occurs, will be Sen. John Kerry. Expect some supportive celebrities to take the podium over the four-day course of the gathering. (Other networks also will offer coverage.)

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

My Wife and Kids

In the hour-long episode "Anniversary," Jay (Tisha Campbell-Martin) recalls that big event, even if Michael (Damon Wayans) doesn't. He intends to go golfing on that day, but he doesn't stay oblivious to its significance for long. As evidence, consider that singer Brian McKnight turns up in the climactic moments.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

Another classic character in "Superman" history appears as Perry White is played by Michael McKean — the husband of series co-star Annette O'Toole — in "Perry." His journalism career derailed by Lionel Luthor (John Glover), White comes to Smallville to do work for a tabloid show. Sure that he's seen Clark's (Tom Welling) superpowers in action, he sets out to expose young Kent.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Amish in the City

You can take the Amish out of their natural atmosphere, but can you truly take their familiar lifestyle out of them? This unscripted series provides an answer, as the two-hour premiere puts five sheltered people in a house with six more worldly roommates. The young Amish who participate do so in observation of rumspringa, a rite that lets them sample the outside world and decide which way they want to live.

7:30 p.m. on 5-FOX on 25-FOX

Quintuplets

Paige (Sarah Wright) is determined to do whatever it takes to become queen of the homecoming dance in the new episode "Swing, Swing." Her siblings have other concerns at the event: Penny's (April Matson) escort finds bigger interest in Pearce, and Patton and Parker (Ryan Pinkston, Jake McDorman) accompany unexpected dates.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Simple Life 2: Road Trip

Pulling their trailer into a small Texas town, Paris Hilton and Nicole Richie take temporary shelter with a family of bikers in this new episode. They get an expected lesson from the young son, who turns the tables on them while they're trying to educate him. The socialites find work at a beauty parlor — but the results indicate they haven't quite found their true calling.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Drew Carey Show

At Mimi's (Kathy Kinney) behest, Drew (Drew Carey) befriends the gay couple (guest stars Currie Graham and Sean O'Bryan) who mind her son, Gus (guest star Matthew Josten), after school in the new episode "Straight Eye for the Queer Guy." Drew acts friendly enough to become the new constant companion of one of the partners, unwittingly causing a breakup — and leaving Mimi in a day-care lurch.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

A real-life murder that occurred in New York in the summer of 2003 is the obvious inspiration for "City Hall." A city councilman is killed and a water inspector wounded in their workplace, prompting Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) to seek clues in the dead man's background. Ultimately, the surviving shooting victim proves to be the key to finding the culprit.

8 p.m. on TNN

Movie: From Russia With Love

Widely hailed as one of the best James Bond movies, this 1963 adventure pits Agent 007 (Sean Connery) against vicious enemy Red Grant (Robert Shaw) in a legendary train-fight sequence that ties into a plot by the organization SPECTRE to discredit the spy. Daniela Bianchi plays the love interest, who is "forced" to lure Bond into her arms. Lotte Lenya co-stars as memorable villain Rosa Klebb, who hides a knife in her shoe.

8 p.m. and TNT

Movie: Driven

Sylvester Stallone hits the auto-racing track by reteaming with "Cliffhanger" director Renny Harlin in this 2001 drama. The actor plays a veteran driver attempting to train younger racers for the team owner (Burt Reynolds) who hired him. Two of the novices (Kip Pardue, Til Schweiger) end up in a romantic triangle, with Estella Warren ("Planet of the Apes") as the object of their affection.

7 p.m. and TBS

Movie: The Mask of Zorro

Don Diego de la Vega, aka the mysterious Zorro, passes the mask and cape to a younger man in this 1998 action drama. With his old nemesis — the evil Don Rafael (Stuart Wilson) — preparing to buy California from Mexico, an aging Don Diego (Anthony Hopkins) hand-picks urchin-turned-bandido Alejandro (Antonio Banderas) to train as his successor.

7 p.m. and TNT

Movie: Evel Knievel

The motorcyclist rides again, in the persona of actor George Eads ("CSI: Crime Scene Investigation"), in this new biographical movie. It follows Knievel from the start of his daredevil days in the mid-1960s through his famous 1974 jump across the Snake River Canyon in Idaho. Directed by John Badham ("Saturday Night Fever"), the film also stars Beau Bridges and Jaime Pressly.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

Rory (Martin Spanjers) tries to assume the role of his deceased father. He becomes concerned when Bridget and Kerry (Kaley Cuoco, Amy Davidson) decide to spend the holiday with their respective boyfriends at a party. Jim and Laura (guest stars James Garner and Suzanne Plasse) have an unexpected type of reunion.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Jury

A murder defendant (guest star Sheila Tousey) is represented by Greenfield (Shalom Harlow), who gets the woman's alleged co-conspirator (guest star Damian Young) to testify that he committed the homicide on his own — but possibly to no avail — in the new episode "Lamentation on the Reservation." Andre Braugher, who also worked with this show's producers on "Homicide: Life on the Street," guest stars as the judge.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Faith (Kelly Ripa) tags along when Hope (Faith Ford) reports for jury-duty selection in "Jury Duty." Hope gets picked, but Faith is the one who really wanted to serve. She stays around for the trial anyway, and the distractions she creates don't please the judge (guest star Patrick Garner).

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

Reba (Reba McEntire) isn't happy that Barbara Jean (Melissa Peterman) has been asked to baby-sit Elizabeth while Van and Cheyenne (Steve Howey, Joanna Garcia) are away in "Regarding Henry." She sets out to prove to the rest of the family that Barbara Jean isn't the right choice.

8:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Life With Bonnie

Tony (Anthony Russell) takes a tumble on the "Morning Chicago" set and ends up with a concussion. While he's laid up in the hospital, he recalls his younger years when his family operated a storefront trattoria. Upon learning of that background, Tony's cohorts — including Bonnie (Bonnie Hunt) — team up to give him a big surprise.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

Counterfeit money floods the Montecito in "Always Faithful." While trying to determine who is spreading the fake $100 bills, Danny (Josh Duhamel) is called back into active military duty — and ordered to report immediately. Mary (Nikki Cox) gets an unsettling surprise visit from her father.

10 p.m. on HBO

Real Time With Bill Maher

Ever politically incorrect, and proud of it, humorist Maher resumes the second season of his talk program. Interpolating strong opinion and tongue-in-cheek musings into issues of the day, the program also involves guests in one-on-one interviews and round-table discussions. Whatever the topic, one thing is always certain: It will be handled with considerable edge, if only by the perpetually candid Maher.

(Films for each film begin with a starling - one starling - poor, followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK

(New releases):

"HELLBOY": A member of a mutant team with special powers, Hellboy (Ron Perlman, Beauty and the Beast) battles a villain (Karel Roden) who wants to tap into the hero's darker side and engulf Earth in evil in this visually impressive interpretation of Mike Mignola's comic book. Selma Blair portrays the freerater Hellboy loves, with John Hurt as the paternal leader of the good guys. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentaries by Perlman, Blair, co-stars Rupert Evans and Jeffrey Tambor, director Guillermo del Toro, and co-executive producer Mignola; "making-of" documentary; set visits; storyboard-to-scene comparisons; deleted scenes; scene breakdowns; branching DVD comics; TV spots; "Hellboy's Cartoon Recommendations" featurette; DVD-ROM features.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"THE WHOLE TEN YARDS": Bruce Willis and Matthew Perry reteam in this not-quite-as-inspired sequel to the comedy hit "The Whole Nine Yards" as their characters try to save a kidnapped woman who means something to both of them: Oz's (Perry) wife (Natasha Henstridge) happens to be the ex-wife of retired hit man Jimmy (Willis). Joined by the assassin's current spouse (Amanda Peet), a novice killer, the fellows try to make a trade with the abductors. Kevin Pollak plays the main villain. DVD extras: audio commentary by director Howard

Deutch and screenwriter George Gallo.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"KID KILLY": First filmed in 1970 as a screen vehicle for rock star Mick Jagger, the saga of the Australian outlaw is revealed in a version starring Heath Ledger (The Patriot) in the title role. Opposing the wrongful targeting of his family by police, Kelly leads vigilantes in a Robin Hood-like crusade for true justice, making himself a folk hero. Geoffrey Rush plays his main nemesis, who issues a bounty for Kelly. Naomi Watts and Orlando Bloom (The Lord of the Rings trilogy) co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentaries; poster gallery.  (R: AS, N, P, V)

"THE JEFF FOXWORTHY SHOW: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON": The "You might be a redneck if..." comic, returning this fall in a WB Network series, first tried series TV in the mid-1990s with this sitcom, which started on ABC and then got a reprieve from NBC. In the two-DVD set, Foxworthy plays a laidback Midwesterner who deals with family issues while running a heating and air-conditioning business. Anita Barone plays his wife, also in the regular cast is young Haley Joel Osment before he became an Oscar nominee for "The Sixth Sense."  (Not rated: AS)

"V: THE COMPLETE TV SERIES": The huge success of two miniseries inspired NBC to introduce a weekly mid-1980s show about the battle between earthlings and invading aliens who resembled humans - except for the lizardlike tongues that ultimately gave them away. Marc Singer (The Beastmaster), Faye Grant and Michael Ironside (Top Gun) play leaders of the freedom fighters who oppose the unwelcome visitors, with Jane Badler as the main personification of extraterrestrial evil. Veteran TV newsmen Howard K. Smith appears as himself in the three-

DVD set, giving "updates" on the situation.  (Not rated: AS, V)

"GROUCHO MARK: YOU SET YOUR LIFE - THE BEST EPISODES": Arguably the most subversive game show host in the history of TV, perennial iconoclast Marx always left contestants and audiences wondering what he'd say next while he presided over the 1950s program famous for the sudden appearance of a dropped-down toy duck when someone uttered the given episode's "secret word." Some of the biggest laughs in this three-disc, 18-show set come from watching announcer and de facto straight man George Fenneman struggle to keep the proceedings on track.  (Not rated: AS)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"HIDALGO" (Aug. 3): Viggo Mortensen stars in this fact-inspired adventure about a long-distance horse race that pits entrants against the grueling challenges of the Arabian desert. (PG-13: P, V)

"13 GOING ON 30" (Aug. 3): An adolescent having an especially bad birthday gets her wish to be 30 years old. Jennifer Garner ("Alias") stars. (PG-13: AS, P)

"JOHNSON FAMILY VACATION" (Aug. 10): Cedric the Entertainer plays the patriarch of a clan whose getaway runs into complications at virtually every turn. Lil' Bow Wow also stars. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"THE PRINCE & ME" (Aug. 10): A driven student (Julia Stiles) initially is unimpressed with a seemingly lazy classmate (Luke Mably) who, unbeknownst to her, is a member of Danish royalty. (PG: AS, P)

"CONNIE AND CARLA" (Aug. 17): Nia Vardalos - also the film's writer - and Toni Collette play friends who pose as male-posing-as-female performers. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

WB pitches Foxworthy series to fans in the U.S. heartland

By John Crook
© Zap2it

To the untrained eye, Jeff Foxworthy looks nothing like an 800-pound gorilla.

Still boyishly lanky at 45, the Atlanta native has the open smile and self-effacing charm of that neighbor you trust to take in your mail while you're on vacation, partly because he usually mows your lawn for good measure.

Make no mistake, though, this easy-going comic is the only reason "Blue Collar TV," a new comedy-variety show premiering Thursday, July 29, on The WB Network, has set up production in Atlanta's Alliance Theatre.

"I had sworn I would never do another TV series after my sitcom (1995-97, flopping on both ABC and NBC)," Foxworthy explains. "What really frustrated me about the sitcom was I never felt it was really me, and to spend 14 hours a day doing something like that is just exhausting."

"It was nuts. I would walk down to the writers' room and an assistant would say, 'In a reverent tone,' 'They're in there writing.' Like 'Leave a message.' I'd point out that I had been writing for 13 years, and they'd smile and say, 'Yes, but this is TV. This is different.'"

"I'd say, 'Yeah, it's not funny!'"

"I learned that I should have stood up for myself, so when they approached me about this show, I said, 'Only if you do it in Atlanta.'"

The WB quickly said yes.

"I was shocked," Foxworthy laughs. "My wife and I looked at one another and said, 'Uh-oh, looks like we're doing a TV show.' But at the same time, I felt very strongly that we had the facilities and the people here in Atlanta to do a show like this, and it's been really cool seeing that I was right, because this experience is incredible."

That's obviously the case, judging by the vast line of fans snaking from the Alliance Theatre doors through the hallways of the Woodruff Arts Center. On this production night, there are easily 1,000 people vying for a seat in a theater that accommodates no more than 650 to 700. Still, the large crowd is buzzing with enough energy to suggest that Foxworthy is appearing on a triple bill with Jesus and Elvis.

"This has been truly amazing," says Bill Engvall, who shares top "Blue Collar" billing with longtime friends Foxworthy and Larry the Cable Guy. "There is no way we would have gotten these kinds of crowds in Los Angeles. I mean, I know there are 'applause' signs in the theater, but there aren't any 'standing ovation signs, and last night the audience was jumping up almost every time we came out. How can we not have a good time with crowds like that?"

"(For that ill-fated sitcom), they would bus in random audience members and sometimes we would be doing the show in front of puzzled 14-year-old Latino kids who were just sort of staring at each other," Foxworthy adds. "I always thought my humor was geared mainly to the people between New York and L.A., so that's the audience we're playing to here."

Once the doors open on this taping night, a lucky 600-ish fans spill into the theater with plastic cups of wine, beer and soda (some 400 fans must try again another night). There isn't a necktie to be seen, and a T-shirt declaring "I have a BS degree," one senses, has nothing to do with bachelors of science. The crowd is dressed for comfort as several fans chow down on the sub sandwiches many have brought in as a quick supper.

A warm-up comic is interrupted by the early onstage arrival of Foxworthy, wearing fisherman's waders for his first comedy sketch. The crowd goes nuts, to put it mildly.

"You watch these guys and it's almost like a partnership with the audience rather than a star with his fans," executive producer Adam Small says of the rapport the show's three stars enjoy with their fans: "Jeff genuinely cares about his fans and that comes across to them, and they throw that back to him. It's amazing to watch."

As for the three performers themselves, Engvall - who stood by buddy Foxworthy as a co-star in the NBC edition of his sitcom - admits that he used to resist the way audiences automatically linked the two comedians, especially since Engvall has been doing stand-up longer than his Atlanta chum. "It used to drive me nuts," he says. "People don't often grasp how huge Jeff is, honestly, so when you're seen with him all the time, it can be good and bad (professionally), because you get a lot of visibility, yet you're perceived as a second banana."

"But people clearly love it when they see us together, and I'm optimistic that eventually somebody's going to say, 'Hey, I'll bet Engvall could stand on his own, so let's give him a movie.' And I wouldn't have missed this Atlanta experience for anything."

"He's one of my best friends, one of the nicest guys you ever could hope to meet," Larry the Cable Guy says of Foxworthy, whom he met 18 years ago at an Atlanta Braves spring-training game in Florida.

"He doesn't insist on hogging all the big laughs for himself. He's perfectly happy to give them to someone else if it helps the show. I remember back when he and I were first starting to work together, he knew I had a lot of one-liners, so for 15 minutes he did nothing but hand me set-up lines for my jokes. You don't find that kind of generosity very often."

Jeff Foxworthy agreed to sign on for "Blue Collar TV," a new comedy-variety series premiering Thursday on The WB Network, only on the condition that the show be taped in his hometown of Atlanta.
